PER CURIAM

Christy Lynn Matthews pled guilty to possession of methamphetamine. Idaho Code § 37-2732(c). The district court sentenced Matthews to an indeterminate period of seven years. Matthews appeals asserting that the district court abused its discretion by imposing and executing sentence rather than allowing her to participate in mental health court.

Sentencing is a matter for the trial court's discretion. Both our standard of review and the factors to be considered in evaluating the reasonableness of the sentence are well established and need not be repeated here. See State v. Hernandez, 121 Idaho 114, 117-18, 822 P.2d 1011, 1014-15 (Ct. App. 1991); State v. Lopez, 106 Idaho 447, 449-51, 680 P.2d 869, 871-73 (Ct. App.

1

1984); State v. Toohill, 103 Idaho 565, 568, 650 P.2d 707, 710 (Ct. App. 1982). When reviewing the length of a sentence, we consider the defendant's entire sentence. State v. Oliver, 144 Idaho 722, 726, 170 P.3d 387, 391 (2007). Applying these standards, and having reviewed the record in this case, we cannot say that the district court abused its discretion.

Therefore, Matthews' judgment of conviction and sentence are affirmed.
