

IDAHO JUDICIAL BRANCH

PRIORITIES FOR THE FUTURE: FY2027-29

This document represents a locally informed vision for Idaho's state courts over the next three years.

The Idaho Judicial Branch is constitutionally charged to provide a justice system that is fair, timely, impartial, and accessible to all. From small claims matters in our most rural communities to complex trials in our population centers, our state depends on a court system that can meet diverse local needs while operating as a unified branch of government.

In early 2025, we undertook a comprehensive effort to gather input from those who know our courts best: the personnel who staff them and the citizens who use them. We surveyed court personnel and court users statewide on their experiences — what works well and what needs improvement.

CHIEF JUSTICE
G. RICHARD BEVAN

Court leadership from across Idaho then met to discuss the survey results and identify priorities based on operational realities and community needs.

The recommendations in this plan reflect that collaborative work. They establish goals to guide the Judicial Branch's efforts across three years, with priorities focused on efficiency, technology, security, and workforce development. The plan also addresses transparency and public understanding — helping Idahoans know their courts and the essential role courts play in our constitutional system.

We extend sincere appreciation to all who contributed to this effort. We also thank the National Center for State Courts for its valuable expertise and support.

MISSION

As the third branch of government, we provide access to justice by ensuring fair processes and the timely, impartial resolution of cases.
