

SUMMARY STATEMENT

Krissy M. Lamont v. Matthew J. Lamont – Docket No. 42588

In a case arising out of Lemhi County, the Idaho Supreme Court affirmed the magistrate court's child custody order. Matthew Lamont appealed the magistrate court's decision granting Krissy Lamont primary custody of their two minor children and allowing the children to relocate with Krissy from Salmon, Idaho, to Meridian, Idaho. The Idaho Supreme Court held that the magistrate court's factual findings were supported by substantial and competent evidence and that its decision to allow the relocation was not an abuse of discretion. The Idaho Supreme Court also awarded Krissy attorney's fees and costs on appeal.
