PER CURIAM

Casey Gene Gilson Jr. pleaded guilty to rape of a female under the age of 16 where the perpetrator is 18 years of age or older, Idaho Code § 18-6101, and a violation of a no contact order, Idaho Code §§ 18-920, 18-920(3). The district court imposed a twenty-five-year sentence, with three years determinate, and a concurrent, indeterminate five-year sentence, respectively. Gilson appeals, contending that his sentences are excessive.

Sentencing is a matter for the trial court's discretion. Both our standard of review and the factors to be considered in evaluating the reasonableness of the sentence are well established and need not be repeated here. See State v. Hernandez, 121 Idaho 114, 117-18, 822 P.2d 1011, 1014-15 (Ct. App. 1991); State v. Lopez, 106 Idaho 447, 449-51, 680 P.2d 869, 871-73 (Ct. App.

1984); State v. Toohill, 103 Idaho 565, 568, 650 P.2d 707, 710 (Ct. App. 1982). When reviewing the length of a sentence, we consider the defendant's entire sentence. State v. Oliver, 144 Idaho 722, 726, 170 P.3d 387, 391 (2007). Applying these standards, and having reviewed the record in this case, we cannot say that the district court abused its discretion.

Therefore, Gilson's judgment of conviction and sentences are affirmed.
