

SUMMARY STATEMENT

Barr v. Idaho Department of Labor, Docket No. 43122

In an appeal from the Idaho Industrial Commission (Commission), the Supreme Court affirmed the Commission's decision and order which affirmed the decision of an Appeals Examiner for the Idaho Department of Labor (IDOL). Jessica Barr appealed the decision of the Commission that found her ineligible for unemployment benefits because she was discharged for misconduct in connection with her employment. The Supreme Court held that substantial and competent evidence supported the Commission's decision. The Supreme Court awarded IDOL its costs on appeal.
