

Summary Statement

Doe (2016-07) v. Doe

Docket No. 43920

The Idaho Supreme Court reversed the Madison County magistrate court's decision modifying the parties' initial custody order. The Court held that the magistrate court abused its discretion by modifying the parties' initial custody order because the evidence was insufficient as a matter of law to establish that Mother had engaged in alienating behavior. Accordingly, the Court reversed the magistrate court's decision and remanded the case with instructions for the magistrate court to reinstate the initial custody order.