PER CURIAM

Steven Kay White was found guilty of possession of a controlled substance with the intent to deliver, I.C. § 37-2732(a), and being a persistent violator, I.C. § 19-2514. The district court sentenced White to a unified term of ten years, with a minimum period of confinement of three years. White appeals.¹

¹ White was also found guilty and sentenced for three additional charges. However, he does not challenge those judgments of conviction and sentences on appeal.

Sentencing is a matter for the trial court's discretion. Both our standard of review and the factors to be considered in evaluating the reasonableness of the sentence are well established and need not be repeated here. See State v. Hernandez, 121 Idaho 114, 117-18, 822 P.2d 1011, 1014-15 (Ct. App. 1991); State v. Lopez, 106 Idaho 447, 449-51, 680 P.2d 869, 871-73 (Ct. App. 1984); State v. Toohill, 103 Idaho 565, 568, 650 P.2d 707, 710 (Ct. App. 1982). When reviewing the length of a sentence, we consider the defendant's entire sentence. State v. Oliver, 144 Idaho 722, 726, 170 P.3d 387, 391 (2007). Applying these standards, and having reviewed the record in this case, we cannot say that the district court abused its discretion.

Therefore, White's judgment of conviction and sentence are affirmed.
