

SUMMARY STATEMENT

State v. Gibson, Docket No. 45449

The Supreme Court reversed the decision of the district court in denying Judy Luis's motion to exonerate a cash deposit she posted as bail money for her son, who had been arrested for vehicular manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident. The Court agreed with Luis that her cash deposit should have been exonerated upon her son's remand to custody pursuant to Idaho Code section 19-2922(6), rather than applied to her son's fine, costs, and restitution obligations. The Court declined to award attorney fees to Luis under Idaho Code section 12-117 on appeal because the statute was inapplicable.
