Klein v. Farmers Insurance Co.

Docket No. 46314

The Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the district court. This case presented an issue of first impression to the Idaho Supreme Court: when does the statute of limitations begin to run on a cause of action for underinsured motorist benefits under an automobile insurance policy? The case arose after Farmers Insurance Company of Idaho argued that a policy-holder was barred from her supplemental underinsured motorist claim because the five-year statute of limitations had run. The Idaho Supreme Court determined that the limitations period for an underinsured motorist claim begins to run on the date of the breach of contract.
