

SUMMARY STATEMENT

State v. Spencer, Docket No. 47109

This is an appeal from a judgment of conviction for drug-related offenses. A grand jury indicted Jordan Spencer for three counts of felony trafficking in heroin, one count of felony possession of methamphetamine, one count of felony possession of bath salts with intent to deliver, and one count of misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia. After a jury trial, Spencer was found guilty on all counts. Spencer timely appealed two of the six counts, arguing there was insufficient evidence to sustain his conviction on one count of trafficking in heroin and that the district court erred when it admitted the out-of-court statements of the State's confidential informant because those statements violated his Sixth Amendment right to confront witnesses.

The Idaho Supreme Court vacated the conviction as to Count I of felony trafficking in heroin. The Court affirmed Spencer's conviction of trafficking heroin as charged in Count II.
