In 2007, Andrew Lee Duborko pleaded guilty to sexual abuse of a child under the age of sixteen, and the district court imposed a sentence of ten years. The court also separately ordered Duborko to pay a $5,000 civil fine to the victim for a crime of violence. More than ten years later, the district court amended the judgment and civil fine order. On appeal, Duborko argues that the district court lacked jurisdiction to amend the judgment and order more than ten years after it imposed his sentence.
