IRFLP 209 General Rules of Pleading

Idaho Rules of Family Law Procedure Rule 209. General Rules of Pleading.

(a) Claims for Relief. A pleading that states a claim for relief must contain:
(1) a short and plain statement of the grounds upon which the court's jurisdiction, unless the court already has jurisdiction and the claim needs no new jurisdictional support;
(2) a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief; and
(3) a demand for the relief sought, which may include relief in the alternative or different types of relief.
(b) Defenses; Admissions and Denials.
(1) In General. In responding to a pleading, a party must:
(A) state in short and plain terms its defenses to each claim asserted against it;
(B) admit or deny the allegations asserted against it by the opposing party.
(2) Denials; Responding to the Substance. A denial must fairly respond to the substance of the allegation.
(3) General and Specific Denials A party that intends in good faith to deny all of the allegations of a pleading, including the jurisdictional grounds, may do so by a general denial. A party that does not intend to deny all the allegations must either specifically deny designated allegations or generally deny all except those specifically admitted.

(4) Denying Part of an Allegation. A party that intends in good faith to deny only part of the allegation must admit the part that is true and deny the rest.
(5) Lacking Knowledge or Information. A party that lacks knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief about the truth of an allegation must so state, and the statement has the effect of a denial
(6) Effect of Failing to Deny. An allegation, other than one relating to the amount of damages, is admitted if a responsive pleading is required and the allegation is not denied except those necessary to sustain an action for divorce. If a responsive pleading is not required, an allegation is considered denied or avoided.
(c) Affirmative Defenses.
(1) In General. In responding to a pleading, a party must affirmatively state any avoidance or affirmative defense, including:
(A) accord and satisfaction;
(B) arbitration and award;
(C) assumption of risk;
(D) contributory or comparative responsibility;
(E) duress;
(F) estoppel;
(G) failure of consideration;

(H) fraud;
(I) illegality;
(J) injury by fellow servant;;
(K) laches;
(L) license;
(M) payment;
(N) release;
(O) res judicata;
(P) statute of frauds;
(Q) statute of limitations;
(R) waiver; and;
(S) discharge in bankruptcy.
(2) Mistaken Designation. If a party mistakenly designates a defense as a counterclaim, or a counterclaim as a defense, the court must, if justice so requires, treat the pleading as though it were correctly designated and may impose terms for doing so.

(d) Pleadings to be Concise and Direct; Alternative Statements, Inconsistency.

- (1) In General. Each allegation must be simple, concise, and direct. No technical form is required.
- (2) Alternative Statements of Claims or Defense. A party may set forth 2 or more statements of a claim or defense alternatively or hypothetically, either in a single count or defense or in separate ones. If a party makes alternative statements, the pleading is sufficient if any one of them is sufficient.
- (3) Inconsistent Claims or Defenses. A party may state as many separate claims or defenses as it has, regardless of consistency.
- (e) Construing pleadings. Pleading must be construed as to do justice.
