

SUMMARY STATEMENT

State v. McDay, Docket Nos. 45595 & 45596

James McDay, pro se, appealed a district court judgment that affirmed the Idaho State Police Bureau of Criminal Identification (“BCI”)’s denial of his request to have two criminal cases expunged from his record. The Idaho Supreme Court affirmed the district court judgment after holding that McDay’s arguments on appeal lacked citations to the record, citations of applicable authority, and comprehensible argument; as such, the Court was precluded from reaching the merits of McDay’s claims.
